

Partnering with Facilitation First™ Inc.

Audience Engagement. Unique Experience. Proven Results. Rave Reviews.

For over twenty-five years Facilitation First has partnered with Fortune 500 companies requiring professional facilitation services and facilitation skills training. We specialize in helping leaders and subject matter experts expand their competency to include meeting facilitation. We're interested in helping create great collaborative leaders! We want to expand our presence in the global marketplace and provide you with proven content.

The Opportunity

You currently have a training, coaching and/or consulting business and would like to add our Facilitation First program suite to your portfolio of services. You will receive full training and ongoing support and will have access to Facilitation First's coaching resources. Our training methods and processes have been developed from twenty-five years of research and are well proven, offering you a complete package with instant market credibility. You can leverage your experience, bring your own flair to the business and achieve a fast return on investment and time.

Is This Right for You?

This opportunity is suited to companies that operate a training business and want to partner with a leading professional development company. If you are an innovative thinker, have an established training business and need new program content to add to your tool kit, then take the next step and find out more about this excellent opportunity. As a Facilitation First Global Training Partner, your organization will become part of an exclusive group of training organizations dedicated to providing world class training solutions.

What Facilitation First Brings to the Partnership:

- Experiential Workshops to sustain high engagement
- Proven, simple, yet powerful tools to reinforce and retain learning
- Content developed in partnership with Ingrid Bens (Master facilitator and author of bestselling books 'Facilitating with Ease' and 'Facilitation at a Glance!')
- Our dedication to being world-class, as evidenced by repeat business
- A new program offering to introduce to your marketplace
- Accreditation by the Project Management Institute (PMI) and the International Association of Facilitators (IAF)
- Use of the "Facilitation First Certified Training Partner" organizational mark for promotional purposes
- Promotion of Global Training Partners on the Facilitation First website
- Access to Facilitation First's online resources

Learn the Science.
Develop the Rigor.
Achieve Results.

At Facilitation First, we want to be your solution for the meeting management challenges your clients have. To take the next step in becoming a Facilitation First global partner, connect with us at: info@facilitationfirst.com.